

ACOTEC ® stands for Advanced Construction Technology and is a registered trade mark of Elematic, a Finnish company which produced the first ACOTEC ® panel in the 1980s.

ACOTEC ® Wall Panel System provides design flexibility, safe, durability and security to our clients in fulfilling the specified requirements of the building industry whilst still being able to provide the relevant overall value engineering. It is a non-combustible material and being environmentally friendly, it is the building trend of the new millennium. The system reaches all the way through a building from façade right down to the partition wall. We carried out government projects, high end condominium, low costs condominium as well as bungalow and landed buildings.
